HALL'S PICTURES.—The sale of George H. Hall's pictures on Wednesday evening was very successful, the collection bringing, exclusive of framing, over $7,600. A dozen of Grapes brought $105; the Minnie Ball-Eight, $450; Raspberries in a cabbage-leaf, $150; Box of Currents, $150; El Aguard, $250; Glass of Orange, $500; Three Peaches, $60. The collection numbered about 100 works.

AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION.—The annual Missionary meeting in behalf of this Society will be held on Sabbath evening, in the Reformed Dutch Church, corner of Twenty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. The Rev. Dr. Ferris presides. Address by the Rev. Dr. Anderson, Pastor of the Brooklyn street Baptist Church; the Rev. J. C. Fletcher, and the Rev. J. T. Duray. Exercises commence at 7 o'clock.

THE SHOPLIFTING CASE.—Julia Harris and Jane Curtis, the two women who were arrested by the Fifth Precinct Police, on a charge of shoplifting in the store of Claffin, Mason & Co., were taken before the City Judge, at Chambers street, yesterday, on a writ of certiorari, the case having been postponed from the day previous. The District Attorney had sent the papers in the case before the Grand Jury, so the writ was dismissed and the prisoners remanded, the Judge refusing bail for their appearance. There was a good attendance of receivers of stolen goods who were evidently disappointed at the turn the case had taken. Meiss, Claffin, Melton & Co., and other merchants who have been suffering recently from shoplifting, are resolved upon prosecuting the thieves to conviction.

MIDDLETON'S PORTRAIT OF DANIEL WEBSTER.—By the same artist who reproduced Stuart's portrait of George and Martha Washington, a likeness of Daniel Webster is now offered to the public. The picture has the same characteristics as the first, but is in this case not a copy of an oil painting but of a photograph from life colored in oil, and is one of the best portraits of Webster we remember to have seen. The merits of the Washington pictures were very fully discussed in a notice of them in this paper. Mr. Middleton's process is not explained to the public in detail, but the result at which he arrives are just as satisfactory to the eye as if the secrets of them were fully known. His pictures are more exact copies than the brush can produce and are free from the lines which the brush leaves behind it; having the same surface in whatever light received. This and the other portraits are not encaust but may be had of canvassing agents.

THE HARBOR DEFENSE COMMISSION.—The Committee on Water Defenses and the Committee on Ordnance of this Commission privately gave hearings yesterday to a number of gentlemen in explanation of various plans. The first-named Committee, of which Ald. Boileau is the chairman, have new designs presented to them almost daily. Investigative genius seems to be more prolific of design for protecting the harbor by floating defenses than in any other way. Fortunately the chairman of the Water Defense Committee is a practical mechanician, having served twenty-five years in the ship-building business, and is therefore very capable for the numerous trials for wooden defenses, brought to the attention of the Committee. To-day the Commission are to witness the operation of a rifled battery, at a point a short distance from the city.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.—The weekly report of the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections shows that there were remaining in the institutions on the 11th instant 6,686 persons. During the week, 42 died, 1,176 were discharged, and 389 were sent to Blackwell's Island.

MEETING OF THE FRIENDS OF SEAMEN.—An interesting meeting of the friends of seamen was held at the Oliver street Baptist Church on Thursday evening, the Rev. Dr. Latrop presiding. John M. Bruce, Jr., presented a report setting forth that the Marine's Church had sold their church property in Cherry street for $19,000 cash, and they had also purchased the church property in Oliver street for $2,000. $19,000 remained to be paid, and it was proposed to divide this sum equally between $1,000 each to the Marine's Church, the Rev. Mr. St. John, Mr. Nauman, Peter Bain, Capt. Richardson, Capt. Freibie, and others, briefly addressed the meeting, at the close of which it was found that twenty shares had been taken. The meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the Committee.

THE UTE INDIANS FROM NEW-MEXICO.—Baron Apollinaris, in the following letter from Maj. Lafayette Head, U. S. V. C., explains itself:

CLARENDON HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13, 1863.
P. T. BANNISTER, Esq.—Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter relative to the Ute Indians at present under my command in this city. I have made a full investigation into the subject, and find that they are far more interesting, more enterprising, and more savage than are the tribes whose chiefs you have with you at present.

The Utes have concluded their mission to the President of the United States, and are prepared to return home. You grant that they should be allowed to see New-York, and that this section I thoroughly consent, being more desirous that they shall have a good impression of the greatness of our American nation. It appears however, that when we meet with the Indians, they are to be met with a rifle and a tomahawk. The Utes, I am sure, know well enough what to do. All the Indians in the country, who invite them and myself to stay at their houses, are boarding them free of expense. I partially accepted that invitation, and shall go there for the three or four days that we remain in the city, unless I receive to the contrary.

The Indians are to be met with a rifle and a tomahawk, of any Indian tribe. They are the fiends, winds with a rifle of any of the fighting Indians of the West. I scarcely know how they would get along with the Indians of the East. The Indians, who are their chief enemies, are the Cheyennes and Kiowas, others, briefly addressed the meeting, at the close of which it was found that twenty shares had been taken. The meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the Committee.

"LIFE A FAILURE!"—Why? Simply because the man attempted to do for which he was not fitted. A PHYSIOLOGICAL CHART would have put him on the right track, and his success secured. See THE PHYSIOLOGICAL JOURNAL. FOWLER & WELCH, No. 30 Broadway.
